NAVY SILENCES SUB SURVIVORS

Will They Raise Tomb?—Air shot shows the tug Sagamore towing giant pontoons from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, arriving at the spot off Portsmouth, N. H., where the submarine Squalus lies 240 feet beneath the ocean surface with a gruesome cargo of 26 dead. These pontoons may be used to lift stricken craft, as they lifted the sunken S-51 in 1926. Navy officials have not yet decided the best method of bringing up the Squalus.

SUB SURVIVORS ARE SILENCED

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 26—Navy officials today placed a strict ban on statements by survivors of the sunken submarine Squalus, and even issued orders that survivors were not to discuss the disaster among themselves.

This was learned as divers again descended to the sea floor to lay the ground work for attachment of air hoses in the event it is decided to attempt raising the submarine, with its cargo of 26 dead, by blowing in air to clear the craft of water.

Meanwhile special naval investigators from Washington began questioning every individual in Portsmouth Navy Yard who worked on construction of the Squalus.

First to be queried by the investigators, whose names were kept secret, were two civilian employees whom the inquirers wish to ask regarding reports that they refused to go on Tuesday's trip for test dives.

QUIZ TWO CIVILIANS

It is said that these two civilians, who hold important positions in the yard, frequently accompanied officers on shakedown trips of the Squalus but on the day of the fatal trip failed to board the craft.

In connection with the general investigation, Captain W. F. Amers, captain of the yard, issued the following statement:

"Despite certain statements in certain papers of the press, there is no evidence at this time to substantiate any rumor of carelessness or sabotage aboard Squalus.

"Furthermore, every survivor has been given orders not to talk to anyone or among themselves relative to the accident, other than the statements given by them yesterday with the permission of naval officials."

While divers were on the bottom again today, laying ground work for attachment of air hoses, an amphibian plane of the navy from Washington took off from Portsmouth two experts who will confer at Washington with naval officials relative to further procedure.

PLAN TO RAISE CRAFT

The Washington officials will rule on whether the sunken submarine will be raised by blowing out water—which would necessitate closing of the faulty induction valve which let the water in—or if pontoons will be used.

Should the first method be utilized this would mean that the induction valve looked upon now as the key to the tragedy, would not be, when the submarine comes to the surface, in the same position as when the sea rushed through the hole it was supposed to close.

Commanders A. I. McKee and A. R. McCann, submarine experts, were selected to make the flight to Washington.

Officers from Boston and Portsmouth navy yards aided the special investigator in questioning men who worked on the submarine construction in any capacity—including the manufacture and fitting of the high induction valve.

All work was done at the Navy Yard here.

It was learned, however, that three regular navy men of the Squalus crew who failed to make

MYSTERY DEATH OF VET IN AUTO BARES TRIANGLE

MILFORD, N. H., May 26—Philip C. Nute, 47, member of the Milford American Legion Post, was arrested today on a technical charge of manslaughter after the post commander, Harold C. Gault, 53, had been found dead in his car near Nute's home.

Jury Given Revere Racket Case

After a charge by Judge Allan G. Butterick, which lasted for one hour and 45 minutes, a Suffolk Superior Court jury today retired to deliberate the case of ex-Mayor James M. O'Brien of Revere and nine other Beach City residents charged with gambling conspiracy.

Judge Butterick warned the jurors that at least two defendants must be found guilty in order to warrant a conspiracy verdict.

If it is not possible to find out defendant guilty and the other nine innocent, the judge pointed out, since it requires at least two persons to constitute a conspiracy.

The ex-mayor and nine others are charged with having plotted to maintain a gambling nuisance at the North Shore Club.

By directed verdict, Chief of Police Edward J. Tighe and two members of the Revere police force, Lt. Henry Tracey and Officer William Gibson were exonerated of similar charges.

County Solicitor J. Vincent Broderick of Manchester said officials are holding Nute pending an autopsy.

According to County Sheriff Richard O'Dowd, the Legionnaire under arrest told them Commander Gault had been out secretly last night with Nute's wife, president of the Legion Auxiliary.

Nute said, according to Sheriff O'Dowd, that his wife had told him she had to work last night, but when he went to the store in Manchester where she is employed he found it closed.

Returning to his home on the Milford-Nashua road, Nute waited near the house, he said, and shortly after midnight saw a car stop about 300 yards away.

Then he saw his wife get out of the car, followed by Gault with a flashlight, the Legionnaire said.

He related that he went up to the car and "had some words" with Gault and that he seized Gault by the shirt. Nute denied, however, that any blows were struck, but said he released Gault and hurried back to the house, to get witnesses to the fact that Gault and Mrs. Nute had been out together.

When Nute returned to the car, Gault was seated in the machine, dead, he said, and Mrs. Nute had gone to get a doctor.

Socialites Robbed Of Gems in Auto

CHICAGO, May 26 (INS)—Two gunmen who threatened to shoot their victims were sought today after police were told by four socially prominent Chicago women that they had been robbed of almost $20,000 in jewels and cash when their auto was stopped on a busy street.

The victims were Mrs. Horace Lapan, wife of a wealthy auto company official; Mrs. Arthur Strauss, Mrs. Arthur Lindheimer and Mrs. Hugo Marka.

Arlington Cop Nabbed in Police Trap as Burglar

Patrolman Millard T. Merritt, 40, a veteran of ten years of service in the Arlington police department, was arrested as a burglar early today.

Patrolman Merritt, married and the father of a little girl, was trapped, according to Lieutenant Thomas F. Sullivan, after he had entered a Massachusetts avenue gasoline station and a drug store at Massachusetts avenue and Lake street, Lieutenant Sullivan conducted the investigation and made the arrest.

At Merritt's home, in Lafayette street, Arlington, according to Sullivan, loot valued at approximately $25, made up of drugs, cigars, cigarettes and cans of oil, was recovered. Stripped of his badge and revolver the policeman was locked up in the station house he had left only a few hours before.

SERIES OF "BREAKS"

The arrest followed a series of minor "breaks" and was consummated after Lieutenant Sullivan watched Merritt from hiding places, according to Sullivan's report.

Arraigned before Judge Arthur P. Stone, the policeman pleaded not guilty, and was ordered sent to the Psychopathic Hospital for 10 days' observation.

Chief of Police Archibald Bullock, who appeared against him, said that Merritt admitted taking seven pairs of women's stockings from an Arlington store. He said he asked Merritt what he intended doing with them.

WORLD WAR VET

"I don't know," he quoted the patrolman as saying, "I can't take them home—because then I'd have to tell my wife all about it."

He was equally vague, the chief said, as to what he wanted with the oil taken from the gasoline station, and the drug store's cigars and cigarettes.

Merritt is a World War veteran.

DENY NEW KILL-DUCE ATTEMPTS

ROME, May 26 (INS)—The Italian government today officially denied a report published by the Paris Soir that two attempts recently had been made on the life of Premier Mussolini.

PARIS, May 26 (INS)—In a dispatch from Nice, the newspaper Paris Soir today reported two recent attempts to assassinate Premier Mussolini.

One attempt the paper said, was made a few weeks ago while Il Duce was touring the Piedmont area.

The would-be assassins were reported as captured and executed. Paris Soir quoted one of them as saying:

"I knew I would die, but I sacrificed my life in an effort to rid Italy of its oppressor."

"We are a group of several hundred who have sworn an oath to achieve this end. I hope we may succeed."

Vatican Explains Its Peace Plan

VATICAN CITY, May 26 (AP)—A Vatican news service said today that Papal diplomats had suggested to Europe's principal foreign offices that peaceful solutions to Europe's difficulties might be found either through a "general meeting of interested powers" or through a series of bilateral talks.

The news service said that "the Holy See has limited itself to using normal diplomatic channels to invite interested governments to consider in a pacific spirit the present serious international moment and to seek with peaceful intentions the solution of grave questions which currently hang over the world."

Man Is Suffocated, 3 Girls Rescued In Back Bay Fire

Trapped in his flaming third floor apartment in Newbury street, Back Bay, Wilbert E. Farrington, Jr., 31, was suffocated and fell dead as he staggered toward a bedroom window today.

ANN PETHERICK

Heroism of Harold Petherick, occupant of an apartment directly below the fire, saved the lives of three girls living in apartments above the flames.

Petherick guided his wife, Florence, and their daughter, Ann, 11, to the street, then roused six young women in the four story apartment house before sounding the fire alarm box.

ROUSED BY CRIES

The Misses Madeleine Kent, 33, Hilda Driscoll, 25, and Karen Erickson, 26, were awakened by Petherick's cries and ran down smoke-filled hallways past the blazing apartment to safety. Miss Gertrude Bellows, occupant of a third floor apartment adjacent to Farrington's, was awakened by the flames and barely escaped.

Petherick also aroused the Misses Mary B. Tivnan and Mary Armstrong on the first floor, and they ran to the street in their nightclothes.

Firemen donned gas masks and battled their way through Farrington's blazing living room. They found his body near the bed and carried him to the street.

DAMAGE $2500

Deputy Chief John J. McDonough set damage at $2500 and said careless disposal of a cigarette started the fire.

Friends of the dead man said he formerly lived in West Newton and has been employed as a clerk in a downtown insurance company for about 15 years.

So intense were the flames that a four-foot section of floor was eaten away and the interior of Farrington's apartment destroyed.

8 States Hunt Bride Of Harvard Teacher

Deep mystery today enveloped the disappearance of a blonde southern bride who dropped out of sight in New York without a clue only a few hours before a long-planned reunion with her husband, young Harvard instructor.

In one of the most baffling cases on police records, attractive and well-educated Mrs. Edna Earle Smith, 22, was sought in a dozen states while the husband, David Barry Smith, graduate engineer of Cambridge, continued frantic efforts of his own to locate her.

Due in Boston Tuesday morning Mrs. Smith had telegraphed from New York Monday evening that she would board a train a few hours later. That was the last word from her and station train officials were unable to give assistance.

A five-hour interval between her arrival in New York and her scheduled departure for David B. Smith Boston holds the key to "The Case of the Missing Bride," according to police.

Every facility open to police has been used to no avail. The girl's description was radioed through all Eastern States and placed on police teletypes with no response.

HOSPITALS CHECKED

Hospitals have been checked thoroughly on the theory she may have been the victim of an accident, while a special detail of New York sleuths familiar with such work checked the possibility of foul play.

In the wire dated 5:24 p. m. Monday, Mrs. Smith said she would leave at 10:50 p. m., arriving in Boston at 6 a. m. Tuesday.

Smith was at the train to meet his wife, he told police, but failed to find her. He questioned conductors and other trainmen but could find no one who had seen a young woman answering her description aboard the New York train.

After waiting in vain for some further word from his wife, the worried teacher reported her as missing to the Missing Persons Bureau at Boston police headquarters.

Smith told police he thought his wife had about $20 with her when she arrived in New York on Sunday. He said she had no family

GROVER CLEVELAND BERGDOLL LEAVES BOAT

Surprise Move Whisked Him to Cell

BERGDOLL BACK IN PRISON CELL

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the nation's No. 1 "slacker," was back in the land of his birth today, confined to an army prison cell and admittedly ready to "face the music" for evading the World War draft.

A short, squat man with a round face, Bergdoll was arrested yesterday on a charge of desertion as he arrived aboard the liner Bremen from Germany and hustled to Governor's Island where 19 years ago he was convicted as a deserter, dishonorably discharged from the army and sentenced to five years in a military prison.

Military authorities said he would be held a prisoner pending investigation, but the immediate disposition was not clear.

Immigration authorities were instructed by Secretary of Labor Perkins to give the army precedence in the case, even though a bill which would exclude Bergdoll from entry into the United States still is pending in Congress.

Bergdoll, who offered his services in 1914 to the German aviation corps, sought exemption when drafted for the United States army in 1918. When this was refused he evaded draft authorities.

After his sentence, he escaped his guards, fled to Canada and since has lived in Germany.

He faces a possible four-year-and-ten-month term in jail for desertion on his unexpected return and a new trial for escape.

THREE GO 2500 MILES IN CANOE

TUTUILA, American Samoa, May 26 (AP)—Three canoeists, weak from exposure and lack of food, rested here today after a 2500-mile Pacific Ocean journey which began last December 31 at Honolulu.

The men, who made the trip in an outrigger canoe 32 feet long, are U. A. Woodbury of Burlington, Vt., Don Hall of Long Beach, Calif., and Al Eastman of San Diego, Calif.

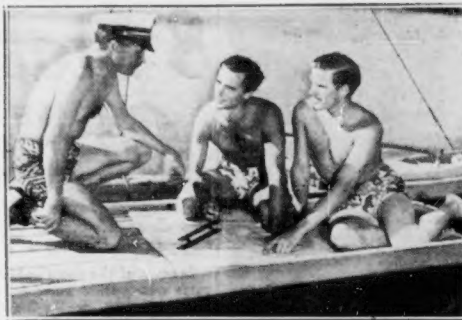

The men said their only nourishment in 20 days, during which they were out of sight of land, had been two fish and rainwater.

After stops at several islands after leaving Honolulu the men said they were at sea 35 days on their last lap of the journey here.

The men reached an uninhabited part of this island two days ago. Hall, who was strongest, swam ashore and obtained some coconuts, but was too weak to bring them through the surf to the others, who were too weak to leave the canoe.

The next day they found a village and obtained food.

King, Queen Visit Land of 10-Gallon Hat, Lose Footmen

CALGARY, Alberta, May 26 (AP)—Their Britannic Majesties came today to the land of the ten-gallon hat, the Canadian far west.

Through the night the royal train sped across Saskatchewan and into Alberta, and as dawn broke King George and Queen Elizabeth could see for themselves the big ranches of their largest Dominion.

Crowds had begun pouring into Calgary yesterday, including the cowboys in the big smokeros, some old and some battered, and bright colored shirts.

The King and Queen got a taste of the wide open spaces in a 20-minute stop last night at Moose Jaw, where they drove up and down Main street cheered by perhaps 8,000 people.

It was not until they had departed, however, that the town was thrown wide open for an old-fashioned frontier celebration.

The schedule for the royal party today included a 15-minute stop at Medicine Hat before entering Calgary for a two-hour visit, including an eight-mile procession through the city.

The Majesties will spend the night at Banff National Park and rest through the next day before starting on to the Pacific coast Sunday. They concluded their visit to Regina last night with a dinner given by Lieutenant-Governor McNab, at which for some reason unexplained the two royal footmen, who came over from England to do the job, did not serve.

The honor fell to Norman Hudson of Saskatoon. The chef, Josef Bruno Zepko, was pleased that the King and Queen seemed to enjoy the food, except the King who "ate the peas and new potatoes but not the cauliflower."

"But the breast of chicken? Yes, all of it!" He pointed to well-cleaned dinner plates. "See."

Queen Mary, 72 Today, to Talk With Windsor

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—Queen Mother Mary, 72 years old today, kept close to her flower-filled apartment at Marlborough House, reminded by her physicians that time would be needed to repair injury to her eye in last Tuesday's automobile accident.

"Her Majesty Queen Mary has had a quiet night," said the doctors' bulletin. "Progress continues to be satisfactory, although improvement of the eye must be necessarily slow."

The physicians have not been explicit as to the eye injury but unofficially it was understood the left eyeball suffered abrasion from a veil which came askew when the Queen's automobile overturned. The Queen was wearing a face veil with one of her traditional hats.

Apart from the booming of guns in a birthday salute and the flying of flags, the British made clear the depth of popular affection for the Queen Mother and rejoicing at her escape from more serious injury.

With bouquets and messages of inquiry and curbsome conversation Britons expressed themselves.

The Queen's two oldest sons, King George VI and the Duke of Windsor, arranged to convey telephone greetings, the first from Canada, the second from France.

HELLO-O-O-O!—King George and Queen Elizabeth of Britain smile broadly at Brockville, Canada, as they recognize Gerald M. Richardson, Toronto news photographer, taking their picture, as the man who traveled to England to make a pictorial record of their departure for America.

ELEPHANT PAIR SET FOR DEBUT

"Hazel" and "Dutch," elephants donated to the children of Boston by the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, arrived at the North Station from Peru, Ind., today without the fanfare that should accompany such an entrance, simply because it was a little too early in the morning for their newly-found friends to gather in welcome.

From the station the two pachyderms were whisked away to the Boston and Maine Industrial building where they will rest until their "coming out" party tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for the children. The debut will take place in the Boston Garden at which the animals will be formally presented by Mayor Tully.

Before the presentation a circus unit composed of acts and vaudeville stars will put on a "Big Tent" welcome performance.

The elephants themselves will be on display and if not too fatigued by the long train ride they may even join in the party with a few tricks.

For two solid hours, strong men, fox eaters, clowns by the score, animal acts, dancers, cyclists, acrobats and jugglers will be on hand to welcome the new arrivals. No admission will be charged.

The elephants were accompanied on their long journey here by Coroner Daniel Hawkins of the Franklin Park Zoo, their new address after tomorrow's installation ceremonies.

Blaze in Inn Fails to Rouse Mrs. Roosevelt

ARTHURDALE, W. Va., May 26 (AP)—A sleeping guest's cigarette set fire to a mattress today in the Arthurdale Inn, where Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her party from Washington spent the night.

The blaze occurred in the second floor room and Mrs. P. H. Meredith, manager of the inn, said the First Lady and others in the Washington group, sleeping on the first floor, were unaware of it.

Raymond Kenny, one of the four advisory board members of the Federal Homestead project here, smelled smoke about 2 a. m. and dashed into the hall. The smoke was seeping from the room. Kenny, finding the door unlocked, aroused the sleeping occupant and together they extinguished the burning mattress.

The inn is situated in the heart of Arthurdale. Mrs. Roosevelt had come to Arthurdale to address the 32 graduates of the community high school.

Census Order Cuts China Raid Deaths

CHUNGKING, May 26 (AP)—Military orders which forbade all residents of this Chinese capital to leave their homes last night were credited with having restricted casualties in a Japanese air raid to about 400.

The stay-at-home orders had been issued to facilitate the taking of the census. One hundred and twenty bombs fell on the riverside business district.

Hint Unhappy Love In Wife's Suicide

CHICAGO, May 26 (INS)—Mrs. Elaine Viola Hargrove Townsend, 29, committed suicide in a manner as thorough as that in which she applied herself to music while becoming an accomplished violinist.

She slashed herself in the left breast with a pair of scissors, severed an artery in her left arm with a razor blade and turned on the gas in her six-room apartment. She was found dead when neighbors smelled the escaping fumes.

Police said Mrs. Townsend was a daughter of the late Dr. Henry Lee Hargrove, who was head of the Hargrove School and a professor at Hunter College, New York. A newspaper clipping found in the apartment told of her marriage in New York seven years ago to Stanley Russell Townsend, former Northwestern University graduate school student whom she met while both were studying at the University of Rochester.

Located by long distance telephone at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where he is a professor of German at Bucknell Junior College, Townsend said he and his wife had been estranged since last September, when he left Northwestern University, where he had a fellowship. Intimating an attachment for another man might have led to his wife's suicide, Townsend said.

"She didn't answer the letters I wrote, pleading with her to come back. She returned all the presents I sent her. I learned from a mutual friend that she had been keeping company with another man. That explained, I thought, the reason why her only letter to me was one asking for a divorce."

A note near the body read:

"Please keep my husband's name out of this. Neither he nor anyone else has anything to do with my desire to die. My only disappointment is in life and my lack of suitability for it—mentally."

"I do realize that it is bad to waste my perfectly good body. I'm sorry. You will want to notify my sister, Mrs. Victor Koon, 1401 Hammond street, Fort Worth, Tex."

"If my body can be of any use in medical research, I prefer that—otherwise, my sister's wishes."

LOVE SUIT RIVALS IN NEW TILT

Feminine rivals of long-standing, admitted participants in a feud extending over a period of years, faced each other in the office of the clerk of the Third District Court, Cambridge, today, while one sought the arrest of the other on charges of disorderly conduct.

The women are Mrs. Edith Belcher, of Parkdale avenue, Allston, who also lives on occasion in Norfolk road, Arlington, and Mrs. Elfrueda Allyn, of Oakland avenue, Arlington Heights.

KNOX CASE WITNESS

Mrs. Belcher was a principal witness against ex-State Trooper George T. Knox, acquitted about a month ago of a charge of murdering Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, with whom he shared a Commonwealth avenue apartment.

She is also the defendant in a $50,000 alienation of affections suit, brought against her by Mrs. Allyn. Frankly confused by the intricacies of the charges and counter-charges, Clerk Charles T. Cavanaugh refused to issue the arrest summons immediately, continuing the whole proceeding until June 3. Both women were represented by counsel.

Mrs. Allyn, who alleged in her $50,000 suit that Mrs. Belcher stole the love of her estranged husband, Philip M. Allyn, asserted that she has been receiving mysterious and elusive telephone calls since the feud began in 1925.

In addition, she charged that her home is literally bombarded day after day by C. O. D. articles which she hadn't ordered.

GETS MYSTERY CALLS

"How," queried Cavanaugh, "do you know the calls are from Mrs. Belcher?"

"Oh," said Mrs. Allyn, "I know her voice . . . she's always calling me names."

The C. O. D. packages are a further annoyance, and, once, she said, a mysterious load of coal arrived which no one has ever been able to trace. In 1925, when she was in the Deaconess hospital for an appendectomy, she received, she said, a complete layette.

"There is no evidence to show that my client made these calls," interjected Attorney Joseph J. McDonough, counsel for Mrs. Belcher.

"There is no question of a feud between them," he continued. "When Mrs. Belcher was a witness in the Knox trial, Mrs. Allyn followed her around the courthouse all day, and finally slapped a suit on her."

Mrs. Belcher said she has been in New Hampshire since the Knox trial, adding:

"I've only been in Boston one day. I haven't, and certainly wouldn't, make any such phone calls."

"We have no control, however, over the activities of a third party," said McDonough, cryptically.

Clerk Cavanaugh then ordered the continuance.

Safe Crackers Get $140 in Franklin

FRANKLIN, May 26 (AP)—Two safe robberies, described by police as the work of "professionals," netted the safe-crackers more than $140 during the night.

The robbers obtained $102 from a safe in the New Haven Railroad office and $40 in the office of the Franklin Lumber Company.

DRIVER WAS CRUSHED!

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 26 (AP)—When Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Price saw a huge road rolling mechanism "ambling from curb to curb" along a city street he waved down the operator, took him to court on a charge of driving a steamroller while intoxicated.

Snite Starts Week Of Prayer at Shrine

LOURDES, France, May 26 (AP)—Fred B. Snite, Jr., began today a week-long thanksgiving offering of prayer to the Virgin of Lourdes in the cold clear dawn before the miracle shrine to which he made a 5000-mile pilgrimage in an "iron lung."

Just as the sun's first rays struck the snow-tipped peaks of the Pyrenees, his specially built trailer was backed to within a few yards of the Lourdes grotto where open air mass was said.

Doors of the trailer were opened and the great cylinder, in which the 26-year-old American has lived for three years, was wheeled to the rear.

With the reflecting mirror which hangs over his head he could see the statue of the Virgin set in rocks and the graceful altar lit with flickering candles of hundreds of pilgrims.

Above and to the side were crutches hung in the grotto by others who had come before him seeking a healing miracle at the spot where the Virgin appeared to the little peasant girl who became Saint Bernadette.

Beside the trailer Snite's father and mother knelt on the cold pavement which runs from the grotto to the Lourdes River.

Black-clad pilgrims from all lands knelt with them, fingering their rosaries in prayer for his recovery. The young man's lips moved in prayer as mass was said.

After slowly moving lines of other pilgrims had received the sacrament it was brought to him through the kneeling throng. As the wafer was placed between his lips the sun bathed the statue of the Virgin in a flood of light.

Animal Life Causes 'Tomato Soup Sea'

LA JOLLA, Cal. (AP)—For years the occasional reddish color of the Gulf of California, which has given it the name of the "Vermilion Sea," was considered due to silt washed down by the Colorado River.

Now Dr. M. W. Johnson of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography here explains the color is actually due to minute marine animals known as nectilura. Their concentration at times is so intense, he says, that the water looks like tomato soup.

India to Teach Palm Tree Climbing

TRAVANCORE (AP)—An expert climber of the Palmyra tree—a species of the palm—accompanied by an expert in the making of Palmyra products, is being sent to Baroda to teach villagers certain uses of products of the tree.

The climbing of palm trees is a profession in South India, where palm juice is used in the manufacture of sugar and indigenous liquor.

Critics 'Cold' To Stokowski

STOCKHOLM, May 26 (AP)—Leopold Stokowski, conducting in movie actress Greta Garbo's home town, received homage from a packed concert hall, but Stockholm critics—reputed to be Europe's most rigid—were not so enthusiastic.

King Gustaf V and several other members of royalty attended the concert, which drew a full attendance despite heavily increased prices. Main criticisms of the white-haired conductor, whose name has been linked romantically with that of Miss Garbo, were:

"Stokowski is no Toscanini" . . . "Good musician but greater virtuoso" . . . "He succeeded best with Moussorgsky where as his Brahms C minor symphony was a disappointment."

was seen today in careful Nazi press efforts to avoid publicity. In the Westdeutscher Beobachter of Cologne, official Nazi party organ in the Rhineland.

An outstanding symptom of the Nazi attitude was a conciliatory half-page editorial on page one of the Westdeutscher Beobachter of Cologne, official Nazi party organ in the Rhineland.

Instructions went out to the German press to refrain from attacking the Soviet government during the present period of negotiations for a mutual assistance agreement to link the Soviet Union with Britain. Paralleling this was the German attitude of reserve, for the time being, toward extension of the German-Italian military pact to include Japan.

Plan Huge Increase In Soviet Army, Navy

MOSCOW, May 26 (AP)—The Soviet Union proposes to spend $40,885,000,000 rubles (nominally $7,727,265,000) in its next fiscal year on the army and navy.

Announcing the budget at the opening session of the Supreme Soviet—the U. S. S. R.'s parliament — Finance Commissar Arseni

Zvereff referred to the Red army and navy as "reliable guardians of peace, always ready, together with the Soviet people, to retaliate with two and three blows for one blow of the indicators of war."

HUGE INCREASE

Zvereff reported a 326 per cent increase since 1932 in revenue and expenditures of the government and called this year's proposed expenditure of 154,957,000,000 rubles ($28,246,873,000) for all purposes "vivid evidence of the growth of the powerful country of Socialism in every respect."

To the cheers of deputies gathered in the great hall of the Kremlin the finance commissar declared, "There is no power that the Soviet people cannot crush."

Joseph Stalin was given a great ovation when he entered for the joint session of the two houses of the Supreme Soviet—the Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities.

Russian Pays $83.16 Now for Ordinary Suit

MOSCOW, May 26 (AP)

While revenues and expenditures of the U. S. S. R. were reported today to be growing yearly, the purchasing power of the ruble has declined.

Prices for various articles of clothing in Moscow shops have increased 28 to 161 per cent compared to last year.

The following prices, with rubles translated into dollars at the official rate of about 19 cents, show the relative purchasing power of the two currencies.

Man's overcoat, $38.28; suit, $83.16; felt boots, $21.62.

the 27,660,000,000-ruble figure for 1938. The actual amounts of the proposed expenditures to go for tanks, planes and artillery were not clearly set forth.

FACT CAUSES

The amount of the defense budget (topping the announced budgets of all other powers) was considered by Moscow diplomatic observers in the light of last night's reiteration by Sir William Seeds, the British ambassador, that full agreement would be reached soon for Russian participation in the British-French front.

Soviet Strength May Be Bared by Pact

PARIS, May 26 (AP)—French military leaders saw a chance today to crack the riddle of Soviet Russia's military strength under the assistance agreement among France, Great Britain and the Soviet Union which now is nearing completion.

France co-operated closely on a British note to Moscow which a reliable informant said called for reciprocal obligations among the three nations in the event of direct or indirect attack made on any one of them.

The government was reported to be considering the personnel of a military mission to go to Russia with a like mission from Britain. The Russian military might has long been a mystery, and the French hope, through staff talks, to get a valuable insight into that country's power.

NAZIS QUIT SPAIN

Britain's New Draft Law Goes in Effect

LONDON, May 26 (AP)—The conscription bill which makes 20-year-old men in England, Scotland and Wales liable to six months of compulsory military training became law today. Assent was given by a royal commission in the absence of King George after completion of parliamentary approval.

Wives Cry Hope For Mates Below

PORTSMOUTH, May 26—Praying and crying in turn, a tragic group of women grimly waited in the forlorn hope that through some miracle their men folk might be found still alive in the submerged steel tomb that was the submarine Squalus.

In the crowded, dimly lit waiting room, the women, many of whom were wives of naval aviators, sat huddled together, their faces pale with anxiety. Some were young, some were old, but all shared the same desperate hope. They had been waiting for news of their missing husbands for several days now, and the silence was deafening.

One of the seven was Mrs. Stephen L. Sherman, a former child's mate, who was listed among the drowned.

While wives, mothers, sisters and brothers of the rescued happily made plans for reuniting the survivors, the families of those who were lost were left in a state of despair.

Not until they were told that the Squalus had been found, and that the crew was safe, did the women begin to breathe again. The news was a relief, but it also brought a new wave of emotion as they realized that their loved ones were still alive.

Some of the women were crying with joy, while others were crying with grief. The emotions were mixed, and the women were overwhelmed by the news.

They were Helen Wain, of Dover, who was to have wed Lloyd Sherman, and Mrs. Mary L. L. Sherman, who was to have wed Sherman's brother, Sherman L. Sherman.

The death of her husband was a double blow for Mrs. Sherman, who was to have wed Sherman's brother, Sherman L. Sherman.

Among the survivors in the Squalus were several women, including Mrs. Mary L. L. Sherman, who was to have wed Sherman's brother, Sherman L. Sherman.

There have been miracles before, and maybe some of those men are still alive down there, but her words were more a prayer than a belief.

PAL'S FIANCEE FORGIVES HERO

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 26—Her eyes filled with tears from weeping, the girl who was to marry next Sunday forgave, today, the man who doomed her prospective bridegroom to death.

It was an act of heroism by Lloyd Sherman that spelled doom for Sherman's fiancée.

LLOYD SHERMAN
Sub Tragedy Hero

For Sherman's fiancée, who was to have wed Sherman's brother, Sherman L. Sherman, the news was a double blow.

But when word came that the Squalus had been found, and that the crew was safe, she forgave the man who had doomed her prospective bridegroom to death.

It wasn't the right thing. It was the thing Sherman would have wanted him to do.

"But I'm still hoping. I still can't believe Sherman is dead. There is still some hope. There must be. I won't give up hoping."

The Navy, however, agreed, not given up hope.

In those flooded compartments, he knew, was Sherman Shirley—but Sherman's duty was to close the door.

The act shattered the happiness and high hopes of Mrs. Ruth DeSautele, pretty, 20-year-old Dover girl—Shirley's fiancée.

OPERA STAR VIEWS PENAL COLONY

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 26. While Lily Tounes made her South American tour she read Rene Bellemont's book, "Ivy Guiltline," concerning the authors' experiences as a prisoner of the prison colony in Puerto Rico. The author of the book, which is the first American novel to be published in the United States, is a Frenchman who has been in the prison colony for several years. The book is a collection of stories and poems, and it is a very interesting and well-written work. The author's experiences in the prison colony are described in a very vivid and detailed manner, and the book is a very good read for anyone who is interested in the subject.

Lily Tounes, who is a very famous opera star, is a very talented and beautiful woman. She has a very beautiful voice and she is a very good singer. She is also a very good actress and she is a very good dancer. She is a very well-rounded performer and she is a very popular star. She is a very good person and she is a very good friend. She is a very good mother and she is a very good wife. She is a very good person and she is a very good friend. She is a very good mother and she is a very good wife.

CHASTE. If Katherine Hepburn, who is a very famous actress, is a very talented and beautiful woman. She has a very beautiful voice and she is a very good singer. She is also a very good actress and she is a very good dancer. She is a very well-rounded performer and she is a very popular star. She is a very good person and she is a very good friend. She is a very good mother and she is a very good wife.

WEALTH. Mrs. Frederick Watriss, Brenda's mother, revealed this story last night. J. Robert Rubin, the MGM official, sent for her to enlist her aid in getting Brenda to sign a movie contract. "Your daughter can name any price she wants and we'll meet it," Rubin volunteered. "But why?" Mrs. Watriss shrugged. "She can't act." "We'll make her an actress," Rubin assured. "And she can make $100,000." "Brenda doesn't want it," explained Mrs. Watriss. "After all—it would mean having to get up in the morning, keeping fixed hours and going to bed early."

CHATTER. Max Lappe, Amena's principal witness, was removed from his Brooklyn cell and now is sequestered in the West Side jail because of threats made against his life. "I made the prison," John Gunther, author of "Inside Europe," will go to Europe next month for a six-week tour. Douglas Fairbank and his wife are returning to England but will be back in five weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS. Professional shark fishermen are engaged at the moment in an attempt to bring 'em back alive so that customers of the Sportsman's Show next year will have a chance to examine the white-bellied monster at close range. But the feature of the show, the expert of the show, is the shark. The shark is a very dangerous animal and it is a very good swimmer. It is a very good swimmer and it is a very good swimmer. ZOE ELIOTT, the Manchester composer who wrote "There's a Long, Long Trail A-Winding," was host to a large party. "Only two more years to go," said he, "and my opera should be finished. That will make nine years in all." Yes, for seven and a half years Zoe has been busy whipping up that opera. That's the reason Tin Pan Alley has not been favored with Elliott songs. LISTEN, WORLD!

Why Sore-Heel Brigade Seeks Spotlight

By Elsie Robinson

SORE-HEEL ADS: what a pest they are! Always tugging a secret growth or suspecting a personal insult. Lash in the cradle you can spot sore-heads. Sulk-tips and brooding while they're toddlers... packing their shoulders. During the high school years they're all over the campus.

Later they become a social menace. Give them five minutes and they'll put the pinx on the happiest pathos. "There's the lady with the tearful eye who's always misunderstood. And the man with the bristling neck who's always being jipped."

By whom? Over what? Nobody knows. But some damn secretaries somewhere did catch them, they're bound to make you feel it.

NOW COMES a new variety of sore-head—most hateful of all. It's the private or hidden in a car who knows there's a woman who'll be the moaners who drag themselves across the highway, shuffling, deliberately, an inch ahead of you wheel.

There are bells, signals, lights, husky cops, all placed there by the taxpayers to protect them and control you YET THERE THEY COME AT THE LAST SECOND, DRAGGING THEIR HEELS, PRACTICALLY UNDER YOUR BUMPER, "DASTING" YOU TO RUN OVER THEM!

From their point of view, it's neither unattractive nor onerous. Once upon a time something happened to them, and they've been sore ever since.

Whatever the original cause, the sore head acquired the idea that the world was against them. They're a large party. "Only two more years to go," said he, "and my opera should be finished. That will make nine years in all." Yes, for seven and a half years Zoe has been busy whipping up that opera. That's the reason Tin Pan Alley has not been favored with Elliott songs.

Ritzes Romp In New Hit

If you can find the time to work with the weather, you can find a point where you begin to feel there won't be any snow for the next couple of days, etc., you ought to be interested in the Paramount picture, 'The Ritzes,' where the two brothers are reaching up and becoming themselves for some of the past.

It probably won't be anything new to say the Ritzes are the main thing you either like or don't like. Generally except when they get mixed up with Dan Amiel and a story apparently written on a train on the back of an envelope, as they did in the 'Trio Mischief,' we like them. Generally speaking, and we're not going to defend ourselves.

In 'The Gorilla,' now playing at the Paramount, etc., the boys are three magnified detectives bent to protect a wealthy man from a murdering fiend who disguises himself as an ape.

Trying to describe the plot of that is to play tag up and down the page but in a task that is even to shudder.

There are moments when it is really exciting when lovely and fragile Anna Louise is captured by the ape and taken to his lair. The scene is well set up. There are Joseph Calcareo, Paul Langton and Robert Atwell, who ought to be your allies.

It has Percy Kelly at the helm of the film and the Ritzes.

Never have they been more ready to jump on the bandwagon of the Ritzes.

So, if feature is 'Buck Door to Heaven,' with Wallace Ford from the Broadway stage and good old Patricia Hayes from England. It ought to be good fun. What can you say?

Sub Disaster Films At South Station

First newsworthy pictures of the tragic submarine disaster are now showing at South Station Theatre. As a series of new 'disasters' are made, they will be added to the original to make up the complete picture of the tragedy. 'Big Boaters,' baseball short, is being featured.

BETTE DAVIS, PAUL MUNI EXCELLENT IN 'JUAREZ' AT MET

Brian Aherne Also Shares In Year's Best Film Honors

By PEGGY DOYLE

If it weren't for the costumes and the beards (Brian Aherne as Maximilian, wears a blonde, curled one that is nearly as beautiful as Alfred Lunt's for "Amphitryon 38"), Warner's "Juarez" might be contemporary drama.

Its presentation of the conflict between the democratic and imperialistic ideas which reached a climax in Mexico in 1905 has the thrillingness of a startlingly authentic newsreel and the dramatic suspense of a first-mouth news flash.

Now unrelenting on the Metropolitan screen, this rugged and challenging photoplay is a dramatic breakthrough from the Hollywood credo, a trail-blazer in a new technique of picture making and unquestionably the year's most significant production.

Paul Muni, whose portrait in "The Life of Henry Jones" and "The Story of Louis Pasteur" are unforgettable, here gives a performance of a lifetime. From a simple little man, he makes a man of whom the world is made, a man who stands for the cause of the oppressed.

His performance is a masterpiece of acting. He is a man of the people, a man who is not afraid to stand up for his beliefs. He is a man who is not afraid to die for his beliefs.

both fundamentally honest, emerge as heroes.

There is a real-life integrity in the performance of the three stars, none of them ever subordinating the drama to the Hollywood star system. Although Muni and Miss Davis are the principal stars, as the action develops Aherne's Maximilian is increasingly spotlighted. He plays the role with immense sympathy and understanding. He has never been better.

Bette Davis, as the ill-fated Carlotta, gets under the skin of this exacting characterization and builds up to the mad scene with an intuitive skill that she has mastered so superbly. She is completely believable.

Maximilian Juarez seems perfectly adjusted that there is no knowing where Muni ends and Juarez begins. His performance is like a wonderful mosaic, expertly and passionately fashioned. There is no other actor who could do this so well as he does.

There are excellent parts to be had in this picture, notably by Claude Rains as the villainous, Henry Blanke, the promoter and William Dieterle as the director, especially are to be commended for their courage in attempting a new approach in the complicated business of picture-making.

They have achieved a memorable picture, which John Huston, Wolfgang Reinhardt and Arne Kenzie provided with a brilliant script.

Old Howard Feature

They didn't on this occasion because they couldn't meet the ball when it was coming right down the middle.

Stream fishing improves. Phil Sauer, of Taunton, took 10 beautiful brook trout, largest 15 inches, within a 20-minute drive of home, he reports. Warmer weather and a slight overcast following a shower provided ideal conditions for wet fly work.

Best striper so far reported to this department in the 22-pound bull bass taken in the surf off Cabonn's Hollow Coast Guard station by Roland Nickerson of Provincetown.

Carl Burr of Hingham Sportsman's Club is leading the movement for fall planting of state hatchery trout. Why? Because a check by the club showed that 520 trout planted in one spot by the state one month before the opening of trout season, produced 260 in one week for the creels of fishermen.

The club is now planting its own trout by dropping two at a time along different spots in a stream. Burr believes at least half the trout should be planted in the fall so they will be split up before fishing starts.

The biggest state shoot ever was held on the grounds of the Massachusetts Fish & Game Club at Norfolk, last Sunday. Records of all kinds were established. There was a record entry list and a record score and shoot off for the individual championship.

"Champ" Dick Shaughnessy successfully defended the state crown he wore last year. However, Dick was extended to the limit by Win Smith of the Ludlow team. At the end of the regulation 10 birds both Dick and Win had finished with a perfect score.

Class B required two shoot off rounds with places finally settled as follows: H. G. Selby, first; W. B. White, second; J. J. Lander, third; P. Washburn, fourth; C. A. Fluke, fifth, and E. D. Henderson, sixth.

In Class C, W. C. Moulton and E. H. Patterson had a shoot off for first and second places, with Moulton winning, and third place was taken by Roddy Kemp.

Competition in the Ladies Event proved very exciting. Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Pierce shooting in squad 12 tied with 89. Mrs. Rogers, defending champion, had the unfortunate experience to have her gun go bad which threw her completely off her stride.

In the following squad Mrs. Scagliarini was doing very well and went onto the fourth field needing a 24 to win, and under this pressure she did just that, thereby ending with a 90 total and first place. In the shoot off Mrs. Vance defeated Mrs. Pierce, thereby capturing the runner up position. There were eight entries for the Ladies Event, again a new record.

Rural Rube, Jingle Jangle Show Speed at Wonderland

The first of the long series of schooling races at Wonderland has brought out scores of America's best known racing greyhounds, all of which have been schooled.

Rural Rube, no stranger to local fans, and which won plenty of his stakes in Florida last winter, has already shown here that he has lost none of his speed.

Tomorrow another program of schooling races will be held. Next week the trials will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Armstrong Gets London Decision

LONDON, May 26 (INS)—Henry Armstrong, fast-punching little Negro from California, retained his world welterweight championship by scoring a 15-round decision victory over Ernie Roderick, British empire champion.

The fight, a thriller most of the way, was fought before a crowd of 14,000 packed in Harringay Arena and the decision was greeted by a ringing cheer.

Armstrong, weighing 135 pounds, spotted the British Empire champion 10% round, and also spotted him the first round, which Roderick won on his boxing.

CASEYS-SAINTS TOP PARK CARD

Navy Yard Host To St. Alphonsus

Bill Benson's St. Augustine Club, fresh from the defeat which they handed to Roslindale Town Club last night at Roslindale, the Townies' first this year, faces Dick Casey's Club tonight at South Boston Stadium in the feature of four Park League two games.

Casey Club regained first position in the West division of the league last night by beating Murphy Club while their usurpers of the preferred position two weeks ago, Star of the Sea, were taking their second shelling in a row from the Navy Yard Blues.

Casey will send a newcomer, Al Drotter, to the hill while Benson will probably counter with Hickman. Star of the Sea goes to Rogers Park to test the Murphy Club and if Jacowitz flings for the Murphies, Star of the Sea may experience their third straight defeat.

St. Alphonsus gets back into action tonight at Harry Field in Charlestown as guests of the Navy Yarders and after losing a close one to Roslindale on Wednesday night in which Cy Weeds pitched superb ball for the Saints, may sink the "shipbuilders" with Marty McDermott taking the hurling honors for St. Alphonsus.

Ray Coolidge brings his South Boston Town Team to Roslindale's Fallon Field where they will probably run up against the pitching of Ashburne of the Holy Name Club, to round out Boston's after-supper diamond diversion.

The Casey Club of Neponset, which last night regained first position in the West group of the Boston Park League, has added three new players which will strengthen the Neponset club immeasurably for the long campaign ahead.

Al Drotter, who hurled for Mass. Knitting last year in the Park League, has joined the pitching staff and Buddy McLaughlin of Boston Latin and Dartmouth baseball renown has been signed to shortstop for the club while Dick Roach from the Western Virginia League will take over the backstop job vacated by George Catalitus who has signed with Ontario in the Canadian League.

Archer Heads B. A. A. Drive

Hopes for the return of the Boston Athletic Association to a club house of its own had crystallized today with the election of Frank M. Archer as president of the famed club.

"We plan an extensive membership drive, and a building program intended to give us the most modern clubhouse in Boston," said Archer today.

The B. A. A. has been without a clubhouse since members quit the old Exeter street building. The members have had hotel quarters for the past few years. Now, steady growth of interest, club officials feel, assures success of a membership and building campaign.

Other officials elected with Archer at the annual meeting were Walter A. Brown and Ralph E. Brown, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, and C. Desmond Wadsworth, Fred W. Damon, William J. Connell and James H. Hails, governors.
